Club Federation Meets State Head

Twentieth Century Club Acts as Hostess When President of State Federation of Women's Clubs Makes Address—Interesting Program Rendered.

The Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs, with The Twentieth Century Club as hostess, had the privilege on Saturday afternoon to have as the guest of honor and speaker for the day Mrs. Charles M. Dickinson of Binghamton, N. Y., the president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. A. Ray Power, and routine business was transacted as speedily as possible in order to give full time to the speaker of the afternoon. The clubs gave no special reports as their season is nearing a close. Dr. Mary Gage Day, chairman of the public health committee and also of the moving picture committee reported briefly, explaining the making out of the index cards for the coming tuberculosis seal sale, and also calling attention to some interesting facts in "The Open Door," relative to motion picture activity at large.

Mrs. Reed reported for the good government committee some slight improvement in city government and particularly commended the suggestion of Rear Admiral Higginson relative to the formation of a Civic Council for Kingston to be made up of representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, Federation of Women's Clubs and other organizations. Attention was called to the large membership in the "What's The Use" club, as Don Selts calls the great non-voting adult population of communities when it came to civic and government matters. Mrs. Reed also stated that the good government committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs would be glad to interest itself in any improvement in city civics that might be brought to its notice.

Volstead Enforcement Costs Money. In regard to the recent extortion by the common council of the soft drink ordinance sponsored by several organizations and individuals of the community, it was stated that the police department are no better prepared to deal with the situation than before inasmuch as there is no appropriation to carry on the work which would consist of securing witnesses to violations of the Volstead act—the police may not issue warrants if violations are found—taking them before a Federal court where in due process of time and expenditure the cases might come to trial. It was thought that graduation into a "Let's do it" club might be generally helpful.

Two announcements were made; one of the meeting of the Third District Branch on Monday, May 10 at Troy; the other of the lecture by J. P. Porter of Cornell University on "Landscaping," to be given at Ewerth Hall, Clinton avenue, on Friday evening, March 26. There will be lantern slides and Mr. Porter will give specific advice relative to home and school gardens.

The question of daylight saving was brought up and slightly discussed, the opinions in favor of and against being about equal.

Twentieth Century Club Entertain. Mrs. Power then turned the meeting over to the Twentieth Century Club, Miss Frances Osterhout, president. Miss Osterhout cordially welcomed all present, bespeaking the appreciation of her fellow members of the numbers who had braved the inclement weather to be present. Miss Osterhout announced the opening numbers of the program to be two piano solos, "Chopin's Prelude in A Flat" and "Waltz in C Sharp Minor," to be played by Miss Ruth Scott. Both players were heartily applauded by the audience and the next numbers were three songs to be sung by Miss Mildred Mendenhall, contralto, accompanied by Miss Scott. Miss Mendenhall sang "Samson," by Schumann; "Through the Moonlight," by Donnelly and "Life," by Curran. The audience listened on an encore and Miss Mendenhall sang "The Met Her on the Plains," quite to the delight of her hearers.

Miss Osterhout asked Mrs. Harry Van Wageningen, chairman of the Third District Branch, to introduce the speaker of the afternoon. This Mrs. Van Wageningen did very gracefully, expressing her own joy that the women of the Kingston Federation were to have the privilege of hearing the president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Charles M. Dickinson, who spoke on "International Relationships," after introducing her pleasure at being in Kingston in the audience and paying a tribute to the devoted and loyal workers of Mrs. Van Wageningen as district chairman.

At the close of her address, Mrs. Dickinson and the entire audience sang a song, "The Goodbye Song," given a ringing vote of thanks. There were other distinguished guests at this meeting, consisting of a number of women from other districts and from Kingston.

Tom, Social Room, Kingston.

Following the address, the members of the Twentieth Century Club sang a song, "The Goodbye Song," given a ringing vote of thanks. There were other distinguished guests at this meeting, consisting of a number of women from other districts and from Kingston.

Need Another 8 Cents for Trip

Downtown Parents Have Been in Custom of Paying Children on New Buses With Eight Cents to Pay Their Fare for the Ride—Have Been Riding Free Home.

With the coming of spring the local bus line with greatly increased traffic is forced to enforce the rule that eight cents will only pay a person's fare one way and is not good for a round trip on the new buses. Some downtown parents have been in the custom of giving their children 8 cents for a ride on the new buses. When it came time for the children to pay the return trip fare to Rondout they were without funds and the bus line rather than leave the children stranded uptown has allowed them to ride back downtown free of charge. This practice, however, will now cease and parents when they find that their children do not return home after a bus ride should remember that the little ones are probably "hoofing" it home from uptown, which takes considerably longer than riding back.

Deputy Captures 3 Alleged Yeggs

Blackstone, Mass., March 22.—Three alleged post office yeggs, captured at Millville single handed by Deputy Sheriff J. Harry Flynn, were identified this forenoon by Providence police detectives.

The police said the trio are: Edward Tracey of Boston, alias Harry Burke, wanted in Providence and other cities; Frank Fagin and John Martin, both of Providence, R. I.

Police Inspector Godfrey of Providence, who recognized Tracey by means of a photograph he kept on "a hunch" that some time it would be of use, declared that it was improbable that the trio are members of the gang who looted the Pawtucket, R. I., post office.

The capture of the trio was spectacular. A man residing near the Millville post office saw a light outside the building. Sheriff Flynn was notified and hurried to the scene, accompanied by several men.

The yegg trio was just going to climb back into the post office when Sheriff Flynn fired a shot over their heads and called upon them to hold up their hands. The yeggs had no time to draw pistols and surrendered.

After the men had been lodged in the lockup here, it was discovered that they went to Millville, a cotton mill village just over the Massachusetts-Rhode Island line, in an automobile bearing Rhode Island number plates. The car had been stolen in that state.

The night clerk and janitor of the Pawtucket post office, who were bound and gagged during that daring robbery, were to be brought here in an effort to identify the three men as the Pawtucket bandits.

Providence detectives, the first on the scene, said they recognized one of the men as Tracey, who is said to be wanted in many cities in the country.

Up-State Cities Fear Floods

Albany, N. Y., March 22.—Albany and other cities along the upper Hudson today were preparing for flood conditions, following a warning by the United States Weather Bureau that high water may be expected in 24 or 48 hours.

Huge ice jams have formed above Warrensburg and it is feared a sudden rise in the river may cause heavy property damage.

Preparations were being made today by rivermen to dynamite ice gorges in the Hudson about 12 miles below this city.

Kills Probation Officer. Hammond, Ind., March 22.—Lester C. Simpkins, who shot and killed Mrs. Lucille Myers, probation officer, when she came to his home to inquire about the welfare of his nine children, is believed to have been located in heavily wooded country south of here and a sheriff's posse has been rushed there. It is believed that Simpkins is suffering from periodic insanity.

Chest Clinics In Ulster County

State Health Department Cooperates With Ulster County T. B. Nurse For Free Examinations in Milton, Saugerties and Kingston This Week.

At the request of Miss Lillian B. Hagelweide, R. N., Ulster county tuberculosis nurse, Dr. Frank Laidlaw, district state health officer, has arranged with the New York State Department of Health to hold three consultation clinics for diseases of the lungs at the following places:

Tuesday, March 23—Movie Theatre building, Milton.

The clinic hours will be from 1 to 4 p. m.

Dr. Lyman Thayer and Dr. Walter M. Whitmot, of the state department of health, will examine the patients, and X-ray pictures will be taken of all suspicious cases. Anyone desiring an examination will be admitted upon presentation of a card signed by the family physician, or if there is no family physician, by the health officer.

In an effort to assist the family physicians, these clinics have been held at intervals throughout the state for the past four years and large numbers of people have been referred by their doctors for consultation and X-ray. Aside from known cases of tuberculosis, patients who have been referred for examinations have been of two types: Persons presenting such symptoms as bronchitis, asthma, coughs, persistent colds, loss of weight, undue fatigue and symptoms of like character; persons, especially children, who have been in contact with cases of tuberculosis. There is no doubt that the decrease of tuberculosis is due largely to the early diagnosis and prompt treatment of beginning cases and to the close supervision and periodic re-examination of exposed children.

QUESTIONNAIRE DISCUSSED BY ST. JAMES PASTOR

"Are non-commercialized recreations to be commended on Sunday, when indulged in outside of hours set for worship?" This question, No. 6 on the series, was presented Sunday evening at the St. James M. E. Church by Dr. Tetley.

Many interesting answers were read from the questionnaire, the majority of which seemed to be in the affirmative.

One answer said the above types of recreation would be all right for men and boys who were employed indoors all week but such was not necessary in Kingston.

Dr. Tetley scored the lax church member who takes his family off on an all day Sunday trip to "commune with nature." Such a member is not true to his church vows. The non-church member who allows his all-Sunday recreations to interfere with his children attending Sunday school is the very one who is likely to be free in his criticisms of the church.

Dr. Tetley's text was "Man was not made for the Sabbath but the Sabbath for man." People should use the Sabbath for rest, reading and wholesome recreations.

Next Sunday evening the final questions will be discussed and the series closed. This question of considerable interest to many, old and young, is "Are young people of today really any worse than those of former generations?" If so, in what respects?

Synod President Pleads for Church

Other Institutions May Devote Efforts to Saving Circumference of Society, But Its Heart is Reached Only by the Church, Says Dr. Trexler.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel Trexler, president of the Lutheran Synod of New York and New England, visited the Church of the Redeemer on Sunday morning. This was his last visit before the silver jubilee convention now being planned for June 1-3 in Rochester. Special interest is attached to this twenty-fifth convention in Kingston owing to the fact that the Rev. William F. Bacher, now of Winnipeg, the first president of the synod, was at the time pastor of Redeemer Church. His association with the synod and the valuable work he did is referred to in Dr. Trexler's book, "Crusaders of the Twentieth Century," which is being published just prior to the jubilee celebrations. The present pastor is the Rev. William J. Nelson.

"The urgent requirement," said Dr. Trexler in his sermon on Sunday morning, "is that those who profess religion should give it a supreme place in their lives. To many it is a matter of dilettantism. Whenever they subject themselves to the influence of God it brings them a pleasant experience such as one might have in viewing a great painting or in listening to a masterpiece of music. It is, however, not an urgent element in life."

"With others religion is an emergency matter, like an unsightly fire escape it is placed at the rear of the house if at any time it should be needed. This attitude to religion gives it a position in men's lives of being a remnant. A religious faith, however, has its value only as it is placed supreme in men's lives. It will not illumine the byways until it is given place in the great highways of thought and action. It does not develop by haphazard but will evolve into real health-giving life only as it is intelligently nurtured. The Great Teacher, Himself, blazed the trail when He asked His followers throughout the ages to seek first the kingdom of God."

"The congregation of individual believers must come to the consciousness that their work is of permanent position in the community and throughout the world. Other institutions may devote self-sacrificing effort to saving the circumference of society. Society, however, will be saved only as its heart and center is cared for by the ministries of the church of Jesus Christ. Into this consciousness, therefore, the church and a purpose which transcends that must grow that she has a vocation of any other human institution."

Dr. Trexler's sermon was well received and the congregation was deeply moved. The service was held at 10 o'clock and was well attended.

Polish Holy Name Society at Mass

Newly Organized Immaculate Conception Holy Name Society—Eloquent Addresses.

Over one hundred and fifty members of the newly organized Holy Name Society of the Immaculate Conception Church received communion at the eight o'clock Mass at the Immaculate Conception Church on Sunday morning. The Rev. Ignatius Bialdys, pastor of the church and moderator of the society, offered the Mass and in his sermon commended the society on its splendid showing.

Following the services at the church the society repaired to the school hall where the communion breakfast was faultlessly served by the ladies of the parish. Following the welcoming address by the president, Elmer Campbell, Attorney Thomas F. Coughlin and Thomas J. Comerford addressed the gathering. Father Bialdys acting as toastmaster called on the last speaker of the morning, Judge William D. Cunningham, who gave a rhetorical address on the history of Poland. The closing remarks of the speaker were a tribute to Father Bialdys and a plea for loyalty and cooperation to church and pastor.

In the afternoon at three o'clock the society was received at a solemn reception into the church by Dean Joseph E. Scully, the Rev. Ignatius Bialdys and the Rev. Father Callahan of Phoenix. Special Lenten devotions were held and there was singing by the members of the society.

Admits Killing High School Boy

Sandusky, Mich., March 22.—Pearl Dorling today confessed, police said, that he shot and killed Roy Lee, 18 years old high school boy, at whose funeral Mrs. Dorling killed herself.

"I killed him because my wife begged me to after she had confessed misconduct with him," Dorling said, according to the police.

Young Lee was found shot to death in his automobile in front of the farm house of William Sager, wealthy bachelor, soon after a gay party broke up one night last week. A driving snow had wiped out all foot prints.

According to the story Dorling I. said to have told, he had taken his wife on his knee at the Sager party and was caressing her when she suddenly told him that she had been untrue and named Lee. The youth, she said, also had made advances to a young girl to whom she was deeply attached.

"Elizabeth begged me to kill him," said the confession. "She said Lee had a gun in his car and she would get it for me. She led me out into the blizzard, got into the car and gave me the gun."

"After a bit Lee came out and got into the car. I was crazy, I knew I fired through the side curtains at him, then went back to the house."

Mrs. Dorling swallowed poison while a minister was preaching Lee's funeral sermon. She died shortly afterwards.

NEGRO FINE FOR USING ABUSIVE LANGUAGE IN STREET

How Bus Transfer System Works

There appears to be some slight misunderstanding among patrons of the trolley and bus lines as to the transfer privileges, and General Manager G. Burton Tellow when asked about the matter this afternoon stated that patrons going uptown from Rondout on either the bus line or trolley car could transfer to the loop bus line only. They cannot transfer from trolley to through bus line or from through bus line to trolley.

Patrons on the loop bus line could transfer to either the through bus line or the trolley.

Patrons going downtown can transfer from the trolley to the through bus line or from the through bus line to the trolley at Broadway and Cedar street. Passengers could also transfer from the main bus line to the trolley going through to Kingston Point at the Rhinebeck ferry.

No transfers are issued on a transfer.

Farm Bureau Has Many Projects

Committees Elected by Various Communities Will Find Many Matters for Discussion at Meeting in Kingston on Saturday.

The annual spring advisory meeting of the Ulster County Farm Bureau committee members will be held at the court house in Kingston on Saturday, March 27, at 10:30 a. m. The purpose of this meeting is to consider and adopt a program of work to be undertaken by the Bureau during the coming year. President Millard Davis of Kerhonkson announces that matters of considerable importance to the Farm Bureau membership will be up before the committee for discussion and advice. The matter of the organization and conducting of an all-talia and legume campaign to encourage the growing and feeding of home grown roughages and proteins has been brought up before the board of directors. Such a campaign will occupy the time of the working forces of the Bureau to a considerable extent during the next two years. Before taking action on a proposition of this size the directors seek the guidance of the advice of all committee members. The purpose and details in such a campaign will be outlined at the meeting and the advantages to dairy men explained. An effort is being made to have Professor J. H. Barton present to explain the work of the campaign. Another important matter to come up for discussion is the organization of a Poultry Record Service to be offered to all poultrymen in the county. This service is to encourage the keeping of records and to furnish a medium for comparison of practices and results among members of the service. It is without cost or expense to the members save for his membership in the Bureau.

A service of value to vegetable men along the same lines as the Spray Service is now of value to fruit growers will be given consideration. This is a letter service originating at the State College, giving out timely information on controlling vegetable insects and diseases.

All communities interested in fruit communities will be on hand to take part in discussion relating to the organization and operation of the Spray Information Service.

Agent W. D. Mills, now in charge of this service, will be present. He will be interested to hear from the growers their ideas regarding the service and special problems facing them.

The matter of the State Vigilance Service recently taken up in this county will be explained and discussed. E. A. Flansburgh, secretary of the state committee, will be present to outline the purposes and operation of this new project. L. S. Cow, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce will attend the meeting. Mr. Cow is always earnestly interested in agricultural affairs of the county and desirous of bringing about better understanding between the county and city people.

Other matters to come up before the meeting include a discussion of the value of a farm management tour during the coming summer, wood-chuck eradication work, tuberculosis testing of dairy cattle, and daylight saving. Committee members throughout the county have been duly elected by members to represent them at this meeting. Ulster county farmers are supporting the Bureau stronger than ever this year. An extensive practical program of work covering all lines of farming in the county will reassure them in their attitude toward the organization. The Bureau directors charge the duty of carrying this program to the committee throughout the county.

MANAGER REED WILL LEAVE KINGSTON

Burns, owner of the restaurant, is a hotel and restaurant man of experience, who since coming to Kingston has made many friends. He has had wide experience in the management of hotels and restaurants in various sections of the country from New England to Texas. He probably will accept a position on Cape Cod where an effort has been made as manager of a hotel and restaurant.

STREAKING TO GIRL THEY DID NOT KNOW COST $20

Gus Rowland, 20 years old, and Frank Schumann, 19 years old, both of Amsterdam, found it rather costly to streaking a girl on the street. They were not acquainted with her when they stopped a young woman and spoke to her on Broadway Sunday evening. The young woman promptly turned them over to a policeman on a charge of disorderly conduct. This morning Judge Shufeldt in police court fined them each $10.

ARRESTS MAX AND THOMAS FAILS TO PRESS CHARGE

Charles Harbeck was placed under arrest Sunday night by Mrs. William Krom of No. 19 Van Buren street, who turned him over to a policeman on a charge of disorderly conduct. This morning in police court Mrs. Krom failed to appear to press the charge and Harbeck was discharged by Judge Shufeldt.

Diphtheria Fatal In 48 Cases

Two Months' Toll in State Outside of New York City Places Responsibility in Many Cases on Patients—Health Department Urges Use of Antitoxin.

Albany, March 20.—The division of communicable diseases of the State Department of Health has just issued a statement calling attention to forty-eight deaths from diphtheria which occurred during the months of January and February in the state outside of New York city. Forty-four of these forty-eight deaths were of children.

In the light of modern knowledge a fatality from diphtheria is considered by the Health Department as a needless sacrifice of human life, and every such death is investigated to determine where the responsibility rests. In only six cases was a physician summoned on the first day of illness. There is probably no infectious disease where prompt treatment is so necessary as in diphtheria. Medical research has demonstrated conclusively that if antitoxin is properly administered in sufficient dosage on the first day of illness to a patient suffering with diphtheria, death from the disease almost never occurs. Therefore there were forty-two deaths in which the parents (or the patients themselves) were partly to blame in that they neglected to call a physician promptly.

On the other hand, in three instances a definite responsibility rests upon the attending physician for failure to give antitoxin, while in ten other cases there was a delay on the part of the physician in administering this remedy.

The complete analysis as to responsibility for these forty-eight deaths according to the Health Department is as follows:

Patients were wholly responsible in twenty cases, physicians wholly responsible in three, while the responsibility was divided in twenty-one instances, and in four could not definitely be placed.

Private Gifts to Aid Fight.

New York, March 22.—The State Charities Aid Association announced today the receipt of a gift of $5,000 from Jeremiah Milbank, financier and philanthropist, of New York, toward the expenses of a special state-wide campaign to eliminate diphtheria in New York state outside of New York city. The Association's State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health, in cooperation with the State Departments of Health and Education, the State Medical Society, local health authorities, and private agencies, is engaged in a five-year intensive effort to check the disease by immunization of school children with toxin-antitoxin.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is also actively aiding, and Mr. Milbank's contribution, with the $10,000 recently contributed by the company, provides for the expenses of the campaign during the first year.

F. Dedrick, and all druggists have McCoy's Rinolin and Mr. McCoy has told everyone of them that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless they are benefited.

So you can buy at any store a bottle of McCoy's Rinolin with the distinct understanding that if taken as directed for ten days it does not cause the bowels to function naturally and regularly you can have your money back.

And McCoy's Rinolin is such a pleasant preparation and so easy to take—children really like it.

Think it over; why go on using harsh salts and violent cathartics that can only purge, when McCoy's Rinolin will cause the intestines to get back to natural action and normal peristalsis? Rinolin tonight—Pep tomorrow.

And now Catted Retail Chemists, McBride's Drug Stores and William

It is not an experiment, because it was tested by thousands of men, women and children, suffering from habitual constipation, before a bottle was sent to any druggist.

In this big test, McCoy's Rinolin proved beneficial in every instance—in the great majority of cases after a 10 days treatment, the bowels began to function normally and naturally and continued to do for many days with no help whatever except in some cases a glass of water in the morning.

OPERATING ON DRY CELLS.

How to Get Economical Operation.

F. M. RUSSELL.

CONNECTING UP DRY CELLS FOR OPERATING 199 TUBES

There are many thousands of receivers in use employing dry cells for the "A" batteries. Sometimes the user finds that it is necessary to replace these batteries every few weeks. Dry cells can be used for the "A" battery when 199 tubes are used and will give quite long life provided a sufficient number of batteries are used so that the current draw will not be too heavy.

The small 199 tubes draw six hundredths of an ampere. To get the most economical service from dry cells not more than one-eighth of an ampere per hour should be drawn from them. The capacity of any single dry cell is approximately 30 ampere hours, so that if you drain it at the rate of an eighth of an ampere it should last about two hundred hours.

The 199 tube operates at three volts so that it requires three dry cells to provide sufficient voltage. On a one tube set three dry cells connected up in series should last about six months using the set two or three hours each night. On a two tube set three dry cells will last about three months.

For a set using three or four tubes use six dry cells connected up in series parallel as shown in the diagram. These should give about two and a half months' service on the four tube and about three months on the three tube set. If you use only three dry cells they will not last more than about one month, as you are drawing off too much current to allow the cell to recuperate. If you use a five or six tube set use nine dry cells in series parallel. (Copyright, 1926, The S. N. L. Technical Syndicate.)

SAVE FOX SQUIRRELS.

New Law Provides a Closed Season For Ten Years.

Albany, March 22.—To prevent the extermination of fox squirrels, the largest and most remarkable of the squirrel family, the Legislature has enacted an amendment to the conservation law making a closed season for fox squirrels until October 28, 1926.

Fox squirrels are found from New York to Florida and in the Ohio valley. And there are two varieties, the Rusty, which is the kind found in the Ohio valley, and in New York, and the Southern which is a black-tail gray with a white face. They are much larger than the ordinary variety, commonly weighing two pounds and sometimes attaining a weight of three pounds. By closing the season on these animals for ten years it is hoped that they may be preserved.

Written Exams for Realty Brokers

They Must Show Competency and Understanding of Their Duties and Responsibilities Before Broker's License is Issued to Them—Present Licenses Will be Renewed.

Albany, March 22.—The state tax commission has announced that after April 1, 1926, a license as a real estate broker will not be issued until the applicant has passed satisfactorily a written examination. Brokers' licenses previously issued by the commission will be renewed without written examination unless there be circumstances which in the judgment of the commission require such examination.

Article 12 of the real property law authorizes the commission to determine the competency of applicants requiring proof that the applicant has a fair knowledge of English, a fair understanding of the general purposes and general legal effects of deeds, mortgages, land contracts of sale, and leases, and a general and fair understanding of the obligations between principal and agent, as well as the provisions of the real estate license law.

Written examinations will be held on the third Saturday in each month in New York, Brooklyn, Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo. After the first day of May, a written examination will be held in New York city on the first and third Saturday in each month.

Written examinations may be held in Amsterdam, Auburn, Binghamton, Elmira, Glens Falls, Hornell, Jamestown, Newburgh, Plattsburgh, Poughkeepsie, Watertown, White Plains and Yonkers. The commission will respect the choice of applicants to the greatest possible extent but it reserves the right to designate the place or places where examinations will be held.

Each examination will be in charge of and conducted by a person selected by the commission.

Questions used upon each examination shall be prepared and furnished by the commission. No other questions shall be used.

A person will be admitted to an examination only upon presentation by him to the person in charge of the examination of a written permit issued by the commission or under its authority and direction.

Permits to be admitted to an examination will be issued to those persons only who have filed with the commission applications for licenses in satisfactory form.

A person will not be admitted to an examination at any time or at any place other than stated in the permit issued him by the commission.

A person, even though he has a permit to be admitted to an examination, will not be admitted thereto after the hour fixed and determined for the examination and stated in his permit.

The bureau of stamps and licenses of the state tax commission had licensed 25,000 real estate brokers and 13,400 salesmen at the close of business March 18. Until further notice applicants for licenses as real estate salesmen will not be required to pass a written examination.

The house had not been occupied for several months.

New York, March 22.—For the first time in ten days, the stock market exhibited a rallying tendency today, fighting off the strong attacks of the bearish professionals and responding to more vigorous buying, and the traders who finally summoned up courage to buy stocks on margin. Last week's steady outpour of stocks appeared to have cleaned up the weak holdings of stocks, for the time being at least; the bulk of these holdings having passed to stronger hands, the market was not thrown into a panic as it was on other recent occasions.

In an effort to cause further settlement in the list, bears opened up another attack on Hudson and Ward Baking B shortly after the opening, in the course of which prices declined quickly to new low levels.

Good buying appeared almost immediately in every important section of the market and prices snapped back to the opening levels for the stocks under attack, while speculative leaders elsewhere moved up a few points above Saturday's close.

Pan American Oil stocks received a boost in the decision of the Mexican Supreme Court declaring the new constitution's petroleum laws non-retroactive, and the decision of the United States Supreme Court to review the case against the government involving an $11,000,000 payment for oil tanks constructed. Pan American B sold up 2 1/2 points to 68 1/2.

Call rates advanced to 4 1/2 percent in the fourth hour.

"Candy Kid" Gang
In Police Net

Notorious Gang Suspected of No Less Than Six Murders—Seven Men and a Woman are Under Arrest.

New York, March 22.—Richard R. Whittemore, the dapper "candy kid" bandit and murder suspect, and his "night club gang," have reached the end of the trail.

Evidence against them is growing steadily and today they are suspected of no less than six murders.

Three states—New York, New Jersey and Maryland—are expected to bid for the privilege of hanging Whittemore and most of the members of his gang. This daring and ruthless organization is believed to be pretty well rounded up. Seven men and a woman, Whittemore's wife, "the tiger kid," are under arrest and held without bail.

The daring hold-ups of the gang are believed to have netted them nearly half a million dollars.

Their capture was one of the biggest police achievements in years. In New York, the gang made a specialty of big jewelry robberies and they squandered big sums of money in the gilded night clubs of Broadway.

The police, after grilling for hours Anthony Paladino, latest member of the "candy kid" gang, to be arrested, announced that Paladino confessed to participation in twenty-four holdups.

Paladino has been identified in four of the numerous jewel robberies in which the gang is implicated and, according to police, has admitted taking part in all of the gang's major "jobs."

The eight members of the gang were to be arraigned during the day, with the probability that they will be indicted.

Strong evidence linking Whittemore and his companions to the $25,000 hold-up of a Buffalo, N. Y., federal bank armored car in which two guards were killed, has been found, according to the police.

In addition, Whittemore is wanted in Baltimore for murdering a guard escaping from the Maryland penitentiary there.

The ordered gangsters were Simon Gilson, "Chicago Tommy" Langridge and "Spike" Kenny. None of the loot from numerous robberies, totalling nearly $500,000, has been recovered.

Margaret Collins, the pretty young wife of the "Candy Kid," is charged with violating the Sullivan law following the discovery of loaded revolvers in baggage, for which she had checks.

Extradition efforts already are under way. Governor Ritchie of Maryland has forwarded extradition papers to Governor Smith of New York, who as yet, has taken no action.

Although Whittemore and his comrades deny the Buffalo murders, police announced today they had linked Milton Goldberg, one of the prisoners, and through him the remainder of the band with the upstate robbery.

An automobile license card bearing the same name and address as that given by an applicant who obtained a license plate for the machine found abandoned by the Buffalo bandits was discovered among Goldberg's effects, police said.

repose of their souls by the Rev. Thomas Jordan, pastor of the church. The service was very largely attended by their many relatives and friends and the floral tributes were many and beautiful, testifying to the high esteem in which they were held in this community. Following the Mass, Miss Adeline McNamee sang "Thy Will Be Done," and as the candles were being borne from the church Miss McNamee sang "Take Me, My Jesus." The bearers for Miss Florence were Arthur Huber, Theodore Rice, William Quigley and Joseph Switzer, and for Miss Adelle, Nicholas Huber, Andrew Madden, Harry Quigley and John McCarty. The Rev. Father Jordan announced the remains to their final resting place in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, where the consoling services were held. Prof. Porter Coming to Ulster County to Announce Interest in Beautification of Home and School Grounds—More Than Three Days.

Through the efforts of Mrs. L. E. Van Etten, chairman of conservation, Ninth District, New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, Ulster county is to have the services of Prof. Joseph Paulmeyer Porter, specialist in landscape art, from Cornell University, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Cooperating with the Ulster County Home Bureau and the district superintendents of schools, two meetings for the teachers of the county have been arranged. One will be held in the auditorium of the New Paltz Normal School Thursday evening, March 25, and one in the Epworth Hall of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, Kingston, Friday evening, March 26, beginning at 8 o'clock.

At these meetings Prof. Porter will give an illustrated lecture showing the possibilities in the beautification of home and school grounds by the proper arrangement of vines, flowers, shrubs and trees. While these meetings were arranged primarily for the teachers of the county, an invitation is extended to members of all organizations interested in civic improvement, and to individuals interested in planting their home grounds.

West Hurley Evening Meeting.
The members of the West Hurley Home Bureau unit, who for two years have been trying to get Prof. Porter to help them with a planting project, are now to have their plans materialize. A meeting has been arranged for their community Wednesday evening, March 24. The meeting will be held at the Methodist Church. At this meeting Prof. Porter will show with his slides what has been done in other communities in New York state in the improvement of church and school grounds and will be ready to make plans with them for their planting project.

Cooperating with Miss Emily S. Burnett, superintendent of the first district Ulster county schools, and Miss Thelma I. Lounsbury, principal of the Flatbush school, arrangements are being made for planting the school grounds there. Prof. Porter has already tested the soil and from photographs of the building and grounds has made tentative plans for beautifying the grounds by the planting of native shrubs and trees.

The directors of the school and the children are arranging for the collection of a supply of native shrubs and trees for this project. In addition there is an acre or more which the children will plant with small trees, thus doing their bit in the big conservation movement of reforestation.

Talks on Conservation.
In addition to the illustrated talks by Prof. Porter, arrangements are being completed to have Prof. Duncan Rankin of Hudson give a short talk at each of the evening meetings scheduled in the county. He will talk on blister rust control and reforestation. It is hoped that through these meetings increased interest may be aroused in the conservation of forests and in the planting of school grounds throughout the county. Thus it is hoped to make more attractive beautiful Ulster county.

Big Improvement In White Sox

New Infielders Will Be Ready If Veterans' Legs Go Bad Again—Plenty of Live Ones In Pitching Line.
Shreveport, La., March 22.—Prospects for the 1926 Chicago White Sox are much better than they were at a corresponding period last year, to state the case conservatively. Between seasons, the club has added some infielders, who really seem to be worth while. The Sox can stand this innovation.

Lack of reserve infield strength in 1925 caused them to fall out of the first division after Manager Eddie Collins pulled up lame. The team won eleven and lost twenty-four games during his absence and this was a thorough tip-off on the situation.

However, things look decidedly better now. Bill Hunnefeld, purchased from Portland of the Coast League and Ray Morehart, a Sox farm-hand for two years, are two very promising infield rookies. Hunnefeld is a shortstop and Morehart a second base man.

But most of the shortstopping will be done by Everett Scott, at least until further notice. The veteran, who became a free agent after the last world series, appears to have achieved a renewal of youth. He reported in good condition and, if his legs hold up, he will get the job.

Sheely, of course, will continue at first base. He will have a capable understudy in Harry McCurdy, who hit .362 in the Texas League last year.

Eddie Collins' bad leg is entirely mended and he expects to do all of the second basing, which will be plenty. Willie Kamm has no competition for third base and the regular outfield will be Bib Falk, Johnny Mostil and Bill Barrett, as of yore.

Spencer Harris is likely to be retained and so is Tom Guley, who was with Cleveland a couple of seasons back.

Then there is Lee Najo, Allie, who goes by the name of Najo. He is a fast Mexican Indian but will have a hard job trying to crowd the others out.

The Sox seem to have plenty of live ones in the pitching line. Their staff was "short" last season. The two Teds, Lyons and Blankenship, will be the mainstays with the veteran spitballer, "Red" Faber, working about every fifth day. Lyons was one of four American League pitchers to win twenty or more games last season, while Blankenship, after an indifferent start, won fifteen games after the fourth of July.

Wallace Carney, an Oklahoma Indian, is one of many right handers in camp. He has plenty of "swif" and looks not unlike Chief Bender. However, he hasn't pitched that way yet. Jim Edwards is the only left-hander of importance and his work in 1925 was not very impressive.

The regular pitchers, therefore, will be Lyons, Blankenship, Kaber and Thomas, with George Connally again acting as king of the bull pen. The Sox loom as contenders for a position in the first division. They almost made the grade last season and with better pitching and more hitting now, their 1926 chances are improved accordingly.

Xavier Five Wins.
Chicago, March 22.—Five husky youth from St. Xavier College High of Louisville, Ky., are the Catholic prep schools basketball champions of the United States. They won the title last night by defeating Aquinas Institute of Rochester, N. Y., in the finals of the National Interscholastic Tournament at Loyola University.

SAFE DEPOSIT EXPERIENCES

By Mrs. A.

Not long ago I had a sudden attack of acute appendicitis. Before I knew it I was in the hospital for an operation.

All the while I was there I was worrying about my bonds, bank books and other valuable papers home in the bureau drawer. And with no one at home but Nora and the children.

When I recovered, one of the first things I did was to rent a safe deposit box for only $3.00 a year in the
